LISBON

Portugal's capital since the XII century, built on seven hills along the banks of the Tagus River. A cosmopolitan city dating from Phoenician times, also an important Roman outpost, with its imposing Moorish quarter dominated by St George's Castle. Blessed with a privileged situation and climate, Lisbon always attracted a variety of peoples and cultures. Its ancient history is reflected in its monuments, some of them rich, others only suggestive, but all enchanting. From the picturesque narrow streets of the old quarters, to the spacious avenues dating from the beginning of last century with their esplanades and cafes, the city and its people embrace you with their warmth and genuine hospitality. Lisbon's quaint old charm blends with the modern bustle of an EU capital.

Today Lisbon is a city geared for the future and tourism is one of its greatest resources with a vast offer of services and structures scaled to compete with the major European capitals.

Actually Lisbon is a modern city served by a fast road network and a range of top quality facilities that makes the holding of major congresses, conventions and other meetings easy on any scale and in number.

Lisbon is the ideal destination for a perfect venue for conferences and other large events.

LISBON COAST

Just a short drive west out of the city - or a scenic train ride – you will find the stylish Lisbon Coast to Estoril and Cascais, with their top hotels palm lined walks and sparkling nightlife. There are tennis and golf facilities, and world championships are held here for sailing and windsurfing.

Further west, you'll discover the spectacular windswept beaches and cliffs of Guincho and Europe's most westerly point - the spectacular Cabo da Roca.

Inland, the ground rises steeply to the green wooded hills surrounding the town of Sintra, praised by Byron as a glorious Eden. In the centre stands the National Palace with its remarkable conical chimneys. Follow the walls of the 8th century Moorish castle and you'll find a piece of pure indulgence in fantasy: the romantic Pena Palace, built in every conceivable style and still laid out just as if it was inhabited.

Described by chroniclers of old days, that knew it in all its splendour, as one of the largest, richest and most majestic monasteries ever seen in all of Lisbon.

The monastery is primarily made up of white marble with a scattering of red jasper, with alternating white and pink marble. There is also an imposing and harmonious cloister and library, with a “ship’s hull” ceiling, that can hold 10,000 books, an addition to the chapter house, novitiate, monastery stairway and refectory, where there are still some blue and white glazed tiles.

Excellent venue to host a large variety of events.

Maximum capacity for banquets: 1,000 persons.

Cálem has been producing top-quality Ports since 1859 and today we give you the perfect chance to experience our unique guided tours.

Starting in our museum you will learn about the Douro demarcated wine region, the making of Port wine and the history of our company. We will take you into the cellars, where our Port wine ages in cool and dark conditions and you'll find out about the unique characteristics of each style of Port.

On leaving our cellars taste a glass of Port wine in our riverside restaurant with magnificent views of the entire riverfront of Porto. Additionally, Cálem offers beautiful function rooms where you can hold events from 20 to 180 guests, and a modern auditorium for 120 pax.

TEAM BUILDING ACTIVITIES

Creating your best team, nowadays isn't easy. It requires dedicated teamwork and skilled leadership. The synergy that comes from putting individuals together to form teams to solve problems, make decisions, and initiate action is a power that must be harnessed for continued organizational success. Today's leaders clearly recognize that within any team "the whole is greater than the sum of its' parts".

We have provided several alternatives in order to accomplish that above goal. Our team building activities are designed to enable your team to function collectively as a cohesive, mutually supportive, and trusting team that will have high expectations for task accomplishment and, at the same time, respect individual differences in values, personalities, skills, and behaviours.
